

Concurrent Enrollment (College Credit Courses)

The Concurrent Credit program is a partnership between Northwest Nazarene University (NNU) and the Idaho Digital Learning Academy to provide college credit courses to pre-college students who have demonstrated high academic ability. The Concurrent Credit program offers university-level credits for selected courses that will help students fulfill some core university requirements while still in high school. The cost is $50 per semester per credit plus a $25 one-time admission fee in addition to IDLA course fees. Students register online directly through Northwest Nazarene. The IDLA registration process also needs to be completed. Students in concurrent credit courses earn the number of credits and a course grade for the course. An official university transcript is provided through NNU. NNU is accredited by the Northwest Association of Schools and Colleges and is accepted as transfer credit by other universities, according to their transfer policies. Information and registration information can be found at <http://interests.nnu.edu/continuinged/ConcurrentCredit/index.html>. Additional credit from other universities may be possible. Discuss with your school counselor the benefits of concurrent enrollment courses!

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT 12A (CONCURRENT CREDIT - PENDING) (GOV501)

In Concurrent Enrollment US Government A, you will earn college credit while becoming better informed about the system that governs your country. The Concurrent credit option is similar to American Government 12A but explore the issues at a college preparatory level. You will read from a college level text and discuss with the other students and with your instructor. You will need both sections of American Government concurrent enrollment to receive university credit. Four credits are available from Northwest Nazarene University.

Prerequisites: Recommendation from local school counselor is required.

AMERICAN GOVERNMENT 12B (CONCURRENT CREDIT- PENDING) (GOV502)

In Concurrent Enrollment US Government B, you will earn college credit while becoming better informed about the system that governs your country. The Concurrent credit option is similar to American Government 12B but explore the issues at a college preparatory level. You will read from a college level text and discuss with the other students and with your instructor. You will need both sections of American Government concurrent enrollment to receive university credit. Four credits are available from Northwest Nazarene University.

Prerequisites: Successful completion of American Government Concurrent Credit A and recommendation from local school counselor are required.

BUSINESS TECHNOLOGY (E-BUSINESS) (BUS301)

What online class will help students get a job--and keep a job?

Business Technologies, the E-business course! Learn new techniques to promote a company's marketing or keep a career on track. Find out about more about our society's new technologies; from the military's new super strong, invisible textiles to solar energy cells and conservation tools. The purpose of this class is to assist students in learning lifelong computer skills with business technology applications, such as how to search the Internet efficiently, how to critique business case studies, and how to create marketing and business plan goals. This course is a 16-week semester course which may be taken as dual college credit (3 credits) through Northwest Nazarene University.

Prerequisites: Recommended Junior or Senior class standing.

CISCO NETWORKING (CISCO101)

Do you want to learn the necessary technology and networking skills to prepare for the 21st century workforce? This course is designed to give you the opportunity to learn the skills needed to design, build, and maintain small to medium-size computer networks. This training will provide you with the opportunity to enter the workforce and/or further your education in the computer-networking field. This course uses the CISCO networking curriculum developed by CISCO Systems, Inc., a leader in networking technologies. Our trained, certified teacher will be an excellent guide as you learn the basics of CISCO networking.

Prerequisites: Recommended a basic computer course.

ECONOMICS (CONCURRENT ENROLLMENT) (ECON501)

In Concurrent Enrollment Economics, you will earn college credit while learning how individuals and nations make choices about how to use scarce resources to fulfill their needs and wants. The Concurrent credit option is similar to the basic Economics course but explores the issues at a college preparatory level. You will complete advanced coursework to meet university requirements and the State of Idaho's curriculum standards. Three college credits are available from Northwest Nazarene University.

Prerequisites: Recommendation from local school counselor is required.

Advanced Placement

Advanced Placement courses give students the opportunity to take college level classes while in high school. In order to receive credit or advanced standing at colleges and universities, the advanced placement exams administered through the College Board must be taken in May. Please review the advanced placement criteria and policies at the college that you plan to attend to insure that credit will be awarded. Advanced placement courses can give you an opportunity to stand out in the application process, gain an edge in college preparation, improve your writing skills, and develop the habits necessary for rigorous course work. Discuss with your school counselor the benefits of advanced placement courses!

ENGLISH 12A - ADVANCED PLACEMENT (AP) (ENG501)

Students enrolled in the AP English course have the opportunity to explore writing and literature at an advanced collegiate level. The first semester is organized by genre: short story, poetry, novels, and drama. Both semesters of AP English are necessary to prepare you to take the AP Examination in the spring. The free-response section of the AP English Literature and Composition Examination demands that you be able to write persuasively as well as read critically. Therefore, assume to write frequently, at least once a week. Writing assignments will consist of timed writings as well as researched essays. Detailed instruction sheets and rubrics will accompany all assignments.

Prerequisites: Recommendation from local school counselor is required.

ENGLISH 12B - ADVANCED PLACEMENT (AP) (ENG502)

Students enrolled in the AP English course have the opportunity to explore writing and literature at an advanced collegiate level. The second semester is organized as a chronological survey of British literature from the Anglo-Saxon period to the present. Both semesters of AP English are necessary to prepare you to take the AP Examination in the spring. The free-response section of the AP English Literature and Composition Examination demands that you be able to write persuasively as well as read critically. Therefore, assume to write frequently, at least once a week. Writing assignments will consist of timed writings as well as researched essays.

Prerequisites: Successful completion of AP English 12A & recommendation from school counselor required.

US HISTORY A - ADVANCED PLACEMENT (AP) (US501)

AP U.S. History analyzes and explores the economic, political, and social changes in America since Columbus. Students learn history through critical analysis, reading, writing, and communication skills, and discover how historical events have contributed to American culture. In the process, they'll learn how decisions and events of the past continue to have profound effects on the world today and how knowledge of the causes behind past events can influence future decisions. By the end of the course, students will be ready to put their factual knowledge to work by weighing evidence and interpreting problems presented by historians. The equivalent of an introductory college-level course, AP U.S. History prepares students for the AP Exam and for further study in history, political science, economics, sociology, and law. First semester covers the period of 1492 to 1877.

Prerequisites: Recommendation from local school counselor is required.

US HISTORY B - ADVANCED PLACEMENT (AP) (US502)

AP U.S. History analyzes and explores the economic, political, and social changes in America since Columbus. Students learn history through critical analysis, build reading, writing, and communication skills, and discover how historical events have contributed to American culture. In the process, they'll learn how decisions and events of the past continue to have profound effects on the world today and how knowledge of the causes behind past events can influence future decisions. By the end of the course, students will be ready to put their factual knowledge to work by weighing evidence and interpreting problems presented by historians. The equivalent of an introductory college-level course, AP U.S. History prepares students for the AP Exam and for further study in history, political science, economics, sociology, and law. Second semester covers the period of 1877 to the present.

Prerequisites: Successful completion of US History A (AP) and recommendation from local school counselor are required.